the barcelona
retreat.
4 nights in the hills of barcelona. 12 girls. zero small talk.

the retreat

somewhere between a women's retreat and a girls' holiday.

for the women who love nothing more than being a girl.

girl code: the barcelona retreat is a 4-night villa retreat in the spanish countryside, for the young, wild and free souls who want to show up as no one but themselves.

for the girls with wild souls.

you once danced and numbed your way through the chaos. now you're in your slower, softer chapter.

you're growing and evolving, but you don't want healing to be so serious (and boring) that you lose your silly, spicy self along the way.

slow mornings with cacao, piss-your-pants laughter by the pool, a bit of yoga here and there, and dancing barefoot under the stars.

this is your space to let your guard down, be fully seen, and remember what real connection feels like.

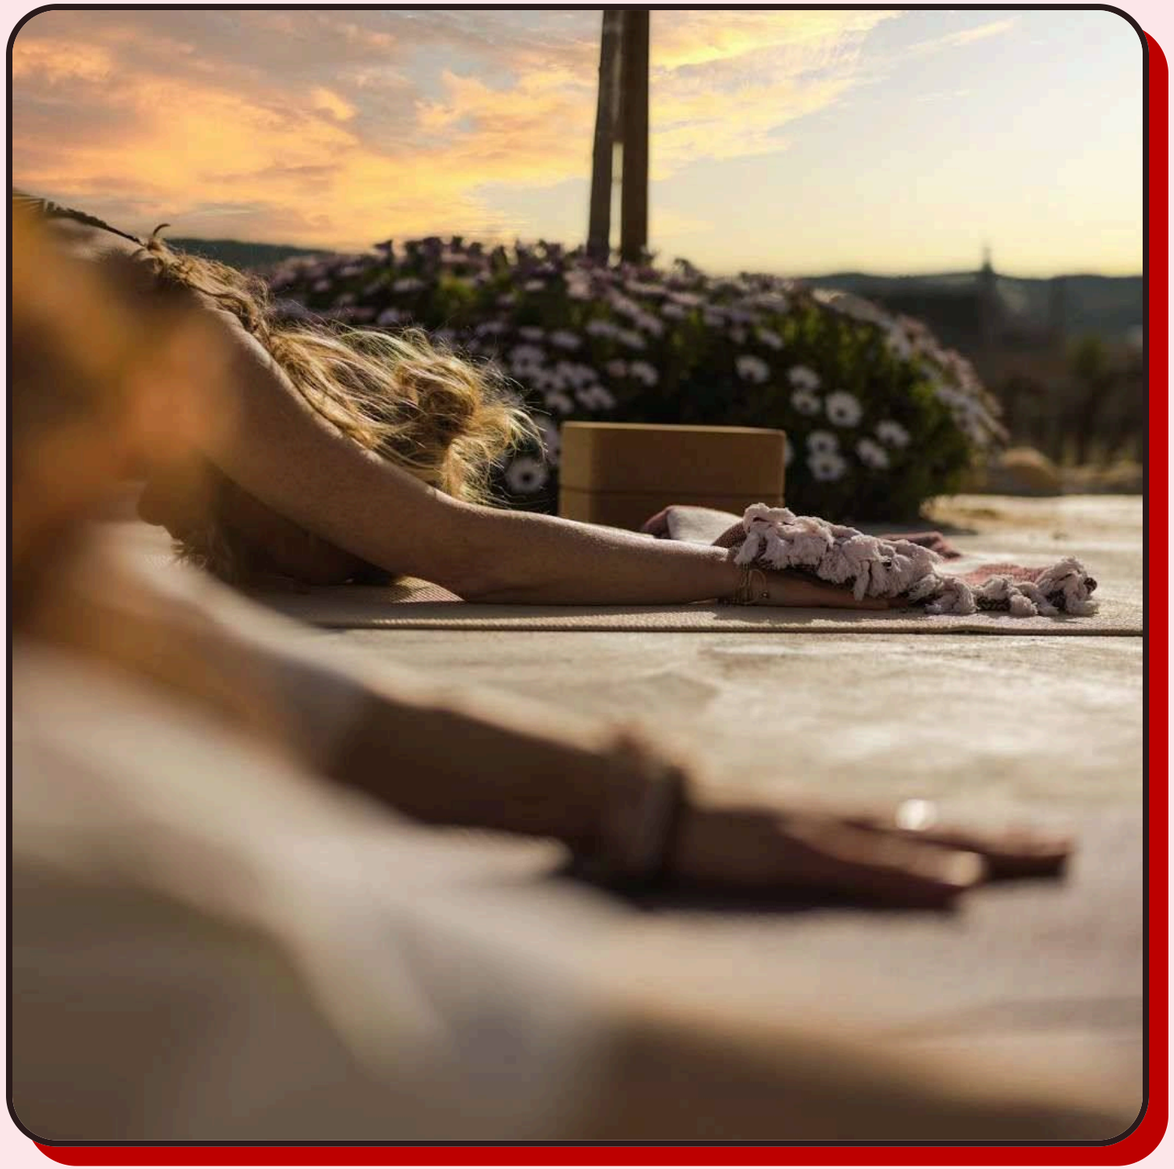

your host

hi, i'm Alex.

i'm a certified space holder and cacao practitioner. but before any of that, i'm just a woman who loves being a girl.

for a long time, i didn't feel like i fitted in with other women. i told myself i was just introverted, but really, i hadn't found spaces that felt safe, real and actually welcoming. so i decided to create them.

women want deep, real connection, but so many of us hold back because of past experiences, fear of judgement, or feeling like we don't quite fit in. girl code is where we do things differently.
